FEDERAL CRIA

Chief Wilkies's Annual Report Shows That Twenty-Three Arrests Were Made in Missouri, Making It Fifth in List.

Federal erime, according to the report of John E. Wilkie, Chief of the Secret-Service Department at Washington, is rapidly increasing and two-thirds of the crime committed is by native-born Americans. John Murphy, in charge of the Secret-Service Office here, yesterday recoived Chief Wilkie's report, which gives the number of arrests made in the United States on Federal charges, the number of convictions and the nativity of those accused of the crimes. The report also contains a comparative statement of arrests made in previous years. Arrests made in previous years. Arrests made in previous years. Arrests made in 1806 exceed by more than 100 those recorded in 1804. The number of counterfeit and altered notes captured is smaller than last year, but the sum of counterfeits is one-third larger.

There were 165 counterfeiting plates seized by the Government this year, against 47 in 1804.

Of the 512 persons arrested, 277 were convicted, 51 are awaiting the action of the court, 55 are awaiting the action of grand juries, 57 have been acquitted, 5 were ignored by grand juries, 8 were notified, 4 were discharged by United States Commissioners and 1 died before trial.

Of the total arrested, 282 were Americans, Italians ranked next to natives of the United States, the number being forty-two. Natives of Ireland were credited with only two arrests, and Scotland with but one.

Of the 322 arrests made in the United States, twenty-three were made in the States of Missouri, placing it fifth in the list of States furnishing cases. California, with a much smaller population, stands fourth, having contributed twenty-nine cases. Pennsylvania has the honor of being first with ninety-four afrests.

Spurious notes aggregating 35,534.50, in creulaton, and counterfeit coins amounting to 53,10.50 were seized. Sharpers even frauded victims with defunct State bank notes and Confederate bills and "college currency." Low grade petuated in Marble at Berlin.

Berlin, Oct. X.—A statue of Field Marshal von Molike, the gift of the army to the German people, was unveiled here today, the one hundred and fifth anniversary of his birth, in the presence of Emperor William, the imperial family, all the great personages of state and many thousands of people.

Five old men, contemporaries of Von Molike, who served on his staff during the war with France, were there. Ten thousand troops of the Berlin Garrison, in parade uniform, were massed near the scene of the unveiling. The exercises were simple. The marble figure was aculptured by Professor Uphues, who did the statue of Frederick the Great now in Washington. The figure is 18 feet high and leans against a block of marble, with hands folded and less crossed. The statue stands in Koenig's Platz, facing the Reichstag, among other memorials of Prussian history, including the Column of Victory and Rismarck's colossal statue, the Way of Victory, lined with statues of Hohensollerns and rulers of Bradenberg for seven and one-half centuries, and the building of the General Staff, where Von Moltke died. The figure is in the undress uniform Von Moltke ordinarily wore.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Warrensburg, Mo., Oct. 28.—The application for a continuance of the case of the State against W. C. Hyatt, charged with attempting to bribe the jury in the trial of Paul and Hiram Hyatt for the murder of Herbert Martin at Columbus last Christmas day, was filed by Proceeding Attorney Ewing Occarell to-day.

The defense in the cases of J. F. Corbin and William Mullens, each charged with attempted jury-fixing in the Hyatt case made application for a continuance to the February term, which was granted.

The procecution alleges that this action was solely for the purpose of bringing the Hyatt case to trial first, and for this reason, coupled with the fact that Dector John Pulkerson, an important witness for the State, is out of the State, and cannot be located at this time, a continuance was taken in the case against Hyatt.
